

Specifications

- Product California UltraLite Pad
- Application Mounting base for air conditioning condensers
- Indoor/Outdoor Use Designed for long term outdoor storage and use
- Construction Concrete outer skin over a polystyrene core with included metal straps
- Purpose California UltraLite Pad is an equipment pad designed to accommodate air conditioning condensers in a secure manner for use in earthquake-prone areas. This pad complies with building codes for these areas.
- Advantages The California UltraLite Pad combines the toughness and light weight of the UltraLite™ Pad with metal straps that allow a secure foundation for an air conditioning condenser that is intended for service in an area that experiences earthquakes.
- Durability Outer skin and inner core allow flexibility, vibration dampening, chemical resistance, and water vapor permeability but resist damage from ultraviolet degradation and weathering. Performance data is the same as the UltraLite™ Pad.
- Load Bearing California UltraLite Pad shares the same testing results as the UltraLite™ Pad.
- Installation Installs in seconds, straps attach with basic hand tools.
